

June/July 2007

Inilex

Lund Cadillac in Phoenix has been able to recover all 22 Escalades and Hummers stolen from its new car lot over the past 20 months, thanks to an intelligent GPS system developed by Chandler-based Inilex called Kepler Advantage. The Kepler Advantage gives consumers the ability to control their vehicles wirelessly via any phone or by accessing the Internet. The product plugs easily into the car's data bus, allowing it to issue commands such as unlock doors, set the alarm and start the engine—all without complicated wiring. AB

Inilex
Cost: $500 ($10 monthly fee)
www.inilex.com
Users of this GPS system can be proactively notified via phone, pager, or e-mail when a valuable fixed or mobile asset is at risk.

22 | ARIZONA BUSINESS MAGAZINE